Dear Praying Friends,

Greetings from Arlington Texas!

Glory to God, progress is being made here on the medical front!

After many ups and downs, disappointments and clerical errors, the appointment I have long awaited finally took place last Friday and things are moving in the right direction. The University of Texas Southwest Medical Center Neuromuscular Department is the premier place to go here in North Texas if you are suffering from neuromuscular disease as I have for many years. This is the place I was referred to back in 1993, which then referred me to the Mayo Clinic for further testing.

I have been trying to get in there since before I returned to the US in late December. As recently as 2 weeks ago, they were telling me the earliest available appointment was in December. Then one week ago, they had a cancellation in September and gave me that appointment. Then one day after that, they had another cancellation and gave me the appointment for last Friday! Who could have orchestrated that but God alone!

The doctor I met with certainly appears to be a genius. She's very attentive and very observant. She has a battery of tests already in the works for me which I will be completing over the next month. They are even doing genetic testing to see if they can pinpoint a problem at that level.

After this appointment I am greatly encouraged and hopeful that they just may be able to patch me up.

In addition, I will be seeing a hematologist on March 20 to see if they can figure out what is going on with my chronic anemia. I'm certainly looking forward to resolving that and getting some energy back. My iron level has been drastically low for a long time now and nothing has helped long term with that.

Between my General Practitioner, and Neuromuscular Specialist, I believe the Lord has assembled a great team who actually want to help me get better. I feel like I'm in good hands with these people.

Bible orders continue to come in on our Free Bible website and Pastor Telebar and I are working together to get those processed in a timely manner. I can't wait till I'm back home in Croatia and doing massive Free Bible promotions once again! Sure, we've individually mailed about 16,000 Bibles so far, but Croatia has a population of 4 million souls. We've got a lot of work left to do!

Thank you so very much for all your support, and faithfulness. Without you, this would not be possible. Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing.
